

Biography

Dr. Guru Prasad Manderwad, Ph.D,
Assistant Professor,
Department of Microbiology,
Kamineni Academy of Medical Sciences and Research Center,
Hyderabad, Telangana.

Guru Prasad Manderwad, is a medical microbiologist and scientist. His research is mainly focused on the epigenetic mode of bacterial drug resistance. He has been awarded doctorate degree from the reputed Institute BITS, Pilani. He has received research grants from Govt of India for the projects aiming to evaluate the presence of methyltransferase enzymes and its role in the emergence of bacterial drug resistance. Previously he has received “Young Investigation award” from DST, Govt. of India. Recently he has been awarded Outstanding and Best Researcher Award from International organization for Scientific Research. He is forefront in doing research in the field of infectious diseases and has been awarded research grant for evaluating the polymorphism of Interferon gamma and susceptibility to pulmonary tuberculosis. He also has found a potential epigenetic biomarker for ocular squamous cell carcinoma. He has published more than 30 papers in in prestigious peer review national and International journals. He is serving editorial board member of reputed journal including British Biomedical Bulletin, Journal of genetic disorders and Dove Medical Press.